PREVENTION OF YOUNG SUICIDE

As IstTek looks to form alliances and partnerships, a key factor of engagement will always be a joint commitment to improving the lives of the communities in which we serve. This, driven by our ethos, that we are part of the community and wish to see our communities thrive we recognise that we need to do more.

We could immediately see the benefit of joining forces with PAPYRUS given their appetite in enabling positive change. We have chosen to work with PAPYRUS as we believe in the work they are doing with young people, saving lives, and supporting young people.

Our spokesperson from PAPYRUS wrote" We are incredibly excited to partner with Isttek, this is a unique opportunity to work with a brand new business as they grow and will ultimately allow PAPYRUS to support their employee wellbeing programme from the beginning. "“This partnership will help us to reach out to more young people who are struggling between life and death, as well as those who are worried that a young person they know could be having thoughts of suicide. Suicide is the biggest killer of young people in the UK and our vision is for a society which speaks openly about suicide and has the resources to help young people who may have suicidal thoughts. Support like this enables us to continue undertaking such necessary work. ” “This is amasing support, helping us to reach out to more young people who are struggling between life and death, as well as those who are worried that a young person they know could be having thoughts of suicide. Suicide is the biggest killer of young people in the UK and our vision is for a society which speaks openly about suicide and has the resources to help young people who may have suicidal thoughts. Support like this enables us to continue undertaking such necessary work locally.“
